Kellam Takes All the Blame and Is Held for General Sessions in $25,000.

Broker David L. Kellam, of 229 Broad way, and Lawyer Henry M. Haigh, of 67 inge place, who were arrested Fri-Cuff and O'Brien, of the Central Office, charged with conspiracy in raising sums ney by selling at half-price notes obtained from Henry E. Simmons, Presi dent of the Prosser Falls and Priest Rapids Canal Company, were arraigned rning at the Tombs Court for exforgery, while Haigh is accused with attempting to utter forged notes. Kellam was represented by R. B. Washington, while B. C. Chetwood looked after Haigh's interests. M. A. Smith, to whom the alleged notes were made payable, and who, Kellam claims, made the alteration in the dates of the notes, was represented by ex-Judge Combe. Jesse tearns appeared for the complainant, Henry Simmons.

The case of Keilam was heard first. Simmons, the complainant, took the stand and said that he delivered to his broker, C. W. Low, four notes of $5,000 each on July 13. These were delivered by Low to Keilam.

The witness said that Low, his broker, introduced him to Keilam. The latter introduced the witness to President Western, of the Wayne County Bank, of Honesdale, Fa. Western, he said, tol⁴ him that Keilam was worth about $75,000, and Mr. A. Smith, to whose order the notes were subsequently made, was worth about $15,000. said, tol' him that Kellam was worth about $75,000, and Mr. A. Smith, to whose order the notes were subsequently made, was worth about $150,000. The four notes were then made, but the witness was positive that they were dated sometime in June.

Another transaction involving $61,000 worth of notes, which were to be discounted or sold, was introduced by Kellam's counsel, Lawyer Washington. In this transaction there was a certain contract which had been made between the witness and Kellam. All reference to this fransaction was excluded by Justice Grady as having no bearing on the matter of the four notes.

Broker Low was then called, He has an office at 19 Park place, and resides an 1015 Fifth avenue. For several years he has acted as Simmons's agent in this city. The notes in question were delivered to him on July 13, and as near as he can now remember bore the dates of June 15 and 23. These he gave to Kellam, and was positive that they bore the original dates when they left his possession.

He attempted then to take up the notes, but his lawyer got him to supplement his endorsement on the notes without recourse to me."

An attempt was here made to fix the alteration of the dates on Smith, but he swore that they were changed when he last came in possession of them.

W. Sutphen, a lawyer, of 45 Broadway, then testified as to the notes having been given to him by Kellam. He turned them over to Note Broker G. T. King, of 55 Broadway.

The latter was then called, and said that an envelope, sealed and containing the four notes, was in turn delivered by him to Lawyer Haigh, who is a co-defendant in the case.

Haigh, he heard, was to get 40 percent of the face value and a commission.

This closed the defense, Kellam, the defendant, was then placed on the stand. He broke down under Justice Grady's

He broke down under Justice Grady's questions.
He said he dated the notes originally and took them to Henry F. Clinton, of 136 William street, who, with chemicals, at his request, removed the dates.
Smith and he then net at Judge McCann's office and had a talk about the changing of the dates.
"Now if you will let me tell it all in my own way, we will get along better," said the witness.
"In April I had a talk with Smith and got 2 note for $3,000. I failed to negotiate if and Broker McClellan, of 61 Broadway, told me to make it $6,000. I did so.

Kellam was taken to the Tombs.
The case against Halgh was then taken up. Mr. Simmons, the complainant, testified that he never saw Mr. Halgh till last Saturday.

Mr. Low testified that, acting for Mr. Simmons, he went to Mr. Halgh, who told him that he had notes to negotiate, but Mr. Haigh did not show any notes.

Joseph A. Britton, formerly an agent of Anthony Comstock, acted as detective for Lawyer Low, and Mr. Simmons testified that he went to Mrs. Haigh tropresenting himself as a clerk of Mr. Low, who had given the name of Williams. He procured from Mrs. Haigh the dates of the notes which Low or Williams had agreed to take. This was last Thursday. Britten said he used the name of Robert Hayes.

The case against Haigh was continued till Wednesday, and his bail reduced from $25,000 to $1,500.
